Frequently Asked Questions

General information

Q: What should I expect to experience at a biometric screening?

A: During a biometric screening, a trained Quest Diagnostics provider will collect a number of measurements, including height, weight, blood pressure, waist and/or hip circumference, and a small blood specimen. A screening is typically completed in just 10-15 minutes. The valuable information collected during the screening is used to identify health risks, and these are reported back to you in a private, personal report that helps you understand them so you can take action to improve your health and well-being.

Your health screening is provided by Quest Diagnostics. We are a leading provider of worksite biometric screening and health improvement programs, and Quest Diagnostics is the nation's leading provider of diagnostics information services.

Q: Why should I participate in a biometric screening?

A: Awareness is the first step in maintaining and monitoring your health. Biometric screenings provide first-time and repeat participants the opportunity to get a quick and easy “snapshot” of their health. Biometric screenings are a critical part of your well-being program, designed to help improve your understanding of your health using the biometric and clinical data they provide.

More specifically, your biometric screening:

- Can help you understand your health from the inside out and provide insights into risks that are helpful to know about
- Can help you find out what you are doing well
- Can help you make the most of your time by focusing your efforts on the behaviors that you can change to most improve your health
- Can help you work with your physician to take charge of your health

Screening information

Q: If I participate in the biometric screening, will it be billed to my health insurance?

A: No, this is a biometric screening sponsored by your company.

Q: What is involved in the biometric screening?

A: The process takes about 10-15 minutes from the point of check-in to completion. The screening includes a blood draw for many different blood tests; this blood draw can be from your arm (venipuncture) or from a fingerstick and is dependent on the panel your employer selected. Lipid and glucose tests include a blood draw for HDL “good” cholesterol, LDL “bad” cholesterol, non-HDL cholesterol, total cholesterol, triglycerides, and glucose. You may also have biometric measurements taken.

Q: What can I expect to experience at a Quest Diagnostics Patient Service Center?

A: Participants will have their blood pressure, height, and weight measured. The examiner will obtain a specimen through a venous blood draw (blood taken through the vein). The process usually takes 10-15 minutes. Even if you registered as a walk-in, you will be required to select an appointment time when you check in at the Patient Service Center.

Q: What are biometric measurements?

A: Biometric measurements refer to height, weight, blood pressure, waist, and/or hip circumference.

Q: How is waist circumference measured?

A: The waist circumference process will be done in a private area either on-site or at a Quest Diagnostics Patient Service Center. The measurement will be taken above the first layer of clothing.

The participant will hold the zero end of the tape measure on the abdomen just above hip bone (belly button). The participant will turn around, or the phlebotomist will walk around participant.

- The tape should be snug, but should not compress the skin
- The tape must be parallel to the floor, eg, at the same level all the way around
- The participant should relax and exhale
- The waist measurement will be reported in whole units (inches)

Q: Do I need to fast before screening?

A: Yes, it is recommended that you fast for this screening. This means you cannot eat before your screening. To ensure your results provide an accurate depiction of your health, do not eat anything 9-12 hours prior to your screening appointment. Please drink plenty of water and take any medications as directed by your doctor.

Q: What if I have a regular physician exam and want my physician to provide my laboratory results?

A Physician Results Form, pre-populated with all of your demographic information, will be made available for you to print. Then follow the steps below:
